> More about DESIGN GANG NETWORK

Design Gang is a creative studio that provides the industry with product, graphic & web design, interior design, exhibit design, didactics, research and development.

Since 2004, we have been developing ideas for companies, private individuals and public authorities. We work for major brands and we believe in an integrated design approach.

At Gang, we consider design as the means of innovating goods, services and tools by placing the individual at the centre of the project. The main function of design is to create a character, a personality, even a soul through which the products are related to people and the environment.

Design enables companies to become independent and create their own style, their own products and their own market. Companies need not to follow others and may even anticipate them, creating their own path, their own role in the market and their own relationship with the public.
