> More about RCA Imballaggi Flessibili

RCA Flexible Packaging srl was formally established in 2002 with the restructuring of R.C.A. Recipienti Cartone Alluminio Spa, which has been active since 1957 in the field of packaging.

The company specializes in printing on complex rolls, bags and coils of plastic films, coupled with aluminum or extruded laminates.

In addition to the standard flexo press central drum normally used, the company is equipped with special versatile machines for small series manufacturing, thanks to being able to combine two different needs of the Italian market: supplying high quantities of prints with photographic resolution and at competitive prices. Small production runs are designed to reduce stock inventory and are beneficial as they reduce inventory costs and improve customer cash flow. This option then enhances flexibility when changing prints and frequently modifying the corporate image by creating an ad hoc wrapper for each product item.

RCA also pays particular attention to environmental sustainability; For this reason it is now able to process 100% recyclable PE / PE monomotive films and soybean materials, entirely biodegradable.

The company considers the quality of its manufactured products as an indispensable feature; but equally indispensable is the relationship between customer and supplier: only through a profitable and careful exchange of information it is possible to fully understand the specific needs of each customer and then respond to them with personalized and reliable products.

RCA mainly operates in the agrifood, cleantech and health & wellness fields.
