> More about CERUTTI INOX

Cerutti Inox specialises in the working of sheet metal using the most avant-garde technologies and equipment which permit a full-scale industrial cycle starting from the sheet of steel and ending with the finished products, be they household items or hotel and catering equipment. Cerutti's products reach a high level of quality and technical perfection thanks to the commitment and high professionalism of its human resources. In the last few years, the firm has succeeded in developing an extremely interesting and dynamic presence, deriving positively from its technical/technological background.

Strong points are both the flexibility of structure and production and product reliability. As well as the manufacture of diverse products, Cerutti Inox develops and produces commissioned objects and particulars in other materials.

In the year 2004, Cerutti Inox gained Environmental and Quality Certification. In 2006 it was the first company certified for the Mark of the Household District of VCO (Verbano-Cusio-Ossola). Recently, the company has benefited from the precious collaboration of two confirmedly talented professionals who have brought a wave of style and originality to the new line of products.
