> More about Coesa

Coesa offer its know-how, ie the design and consultancy in the energy sector, with particular regard to innovative systems, which are also renewable and cogeneration systems.

Our planning and consulting is different from the tradition design because it is operated in a power saving on short, medium and long-term perspective, with attention also to the charges.

In fact today in Italy we sell our service to Heat Managers or ESCo (Energy Services Company), that is, companies that earn only if the systems designed by Coesa, generate real savings in the years of the contract.

For the approach to international market, Coesa interface with companies such as medium and large installers, EPC (Engineering Procurement Construction), or manufacturers interested in high-level design.
