

CONSULTECNIC

> More about CONSULTECNIC

Consultecnic carries out the detection and analysis of the energy consumption of the production lines using, where appropriate, dedicated measurement instruments.

It proposes solutions that allow energy saving of the entire production while respecting the environment, using new technologies to store and use energy in a targeted way, rationalizing costs and optimizing performance.

It offers a continuous and remote monitoring and regulation system on the WEB of your plant to keep it able to work safely and with maximum efficiency, thus allowing you to achieve the proposed economic objectives.
