> More about Mondo Policarbonato

Thanks to its historical experience in designing, manufacturing and supplying arcoPlus® polycarbonate modular systems, Mondo Policarbonato offers maximum support to identify with designers the most suitable solution for each project needs. The large translucent surfaces are increasingly valued in architecture due to their functional and aesthetic advantages. Features such as lightness, thermal insulation, transparency and impact resistance are rarely compiled together. So natural light becomes a real key constructive element that creates ethereal volumes, that blend them selves in with the landscape or that reflect the surrounding climatic condition. At the same time, the diffusion of passing through sunlight and the protection against UV radiation guarantee maximum visual comfort in the internal environments.

Mondo Policarbonato is the right partner to let architecture dresses in light installing facades, windows, roofings, skylights and even whole building envelopes.
