> More about OFFICINE MECCANICHE CRESTO

Established in 1960 by Ludovico Cresto, Officine Meccaniche Cresto has always been characterised by a high product quality, achieving a leading position beside the most important European automotive companies.

Officine Meccaniche Cresto can combine a high production rate with an extreme flexibility in machining, and pursues strongly a satisfactory co-operation with the customers, meeting their requirements. The range of production includes suspension and power transmission components, like suspension arms for steering head, ball-joints, wheel hubs, axle shafts, reaction and direction bars, transmission connecting flanges and reduction gears.
