> More about STV ITALIA (CAINO DESIGN)

Caino Design is an Italian brand that aims to experiment with new solutions to enhance living spaces through beauty and design.

Since 2011, collaboration with disruptive designers has led to the creation of original stainless-steel objects that can be used as lightweight dividers to separate or simply decorate spaces.

While resistant over time and durable, these products are finely engraved to create exclusive atmospheres through transparencies, shadows, and reflections. The use of special and recyclable steel allows the panels to be rolled up, making efficient shipments possible within a framework of sustainability.

The engraved panel motifs available in the Caino collections range from delicate naturalistic motifs to subtle geometric patterns and sophisticated organic compositions. Proposed as decorative dividers, steel curtains, wall decorations, works of art, they allow unique visual and tactile experiences.

Additionally, bespoke metal screens can be created for interior design projects allowing customers to tell their story and share their creativity.
