> More about CAMERANA BENEDETTO

Benedetto Camerana (Turin 1963), architect, landscape painter, PhD in History of Architecture and Urbanism, after his studies he continued his theoretical research working on the integration between architecture and landscape, in the direction of a clear-cut “green architecture” environmental, both as Director of the magazines “Eden. Architecture in the landscape” from 1993 to 1997 and “Landscape Architecture” from 2001 to 2005, both in many interventions in workshops, conferences, until the invitation to the XXIII UIA World Congress of Architecture 2008.

Since 1999 he has been a member of the Scientific Committee of the IED – European Institute of Design, with offices in Turin and Milan, where since 2000 is coordinator of the Master in Exhibit Design. From 2010 to 2011 he is a contract professor of the architectural design laboratory at the Polytechnic of Turin. Since January 2012 he is President of the National Automobile Museum. Since March 2013 he has been the Chairman of the Lingotto consortium.

In 1997 he launched in Turin Camerana & Partners, a professional organization to which Italian and European architects collaborate. The work of Camerana & Partners has developed in fourteen years of growing success through competitions in urban design, in the landscape and in the great works of public and private architecture, in particular in the residential, office, commercial, entertainment and infrastructure sectors.
