

Trigenia

> More about Trigenia

Trigenia is an Energy Service Company (ESCo) operating on global scale, guiding companies on an environmental path to achieve, sustainability, energy, and digital transition goals. Founded in 2007, Trigenia is based on successful combination of industrial, financial, and academic expertise of the three shareholders. Trigenia consists of three Business Units, which see a synergy of energy, digital and financial skills, perfectly integrated into a single team.

The offered activity allows to combine energy consulting solutions with digital products for monitoring and optimizing energy consumption, guaranteeing companies access to financial resources and facilities provided by programs of national and European subsidies. All its projects are custom made.
