> More about Sirena

We are Sirena, and we carry our mission in our name: ensuring safety and efficiency through the best acoustic and luminous signaling devices for industry, automotive and evacuation.

Our products are entirely made in Italy and renowned for reliability and sturdiness, thanks to a complete supervision from design to final inspection. We offer much more than safety: we manufacture devices to assist and support people in everyday work and life emergencies with endless opportunities of application.

Sound, light, materials. Signaling is the specialty we have been devoted to since 1974, and we keep tracing its future building on a long-standing heritage, technical quality, exceptional customer service and constant development.

Our vision is to anticipate the needs of the industry: Sirena R&D unit is now focusing on the priorities of Industry 4.0 welcoming the era of interconnected devices with new products connected with each other via wi-fi, remotely controlled and integrated with sensors.
