> More about OMS SORDELLA

O.M.S. Sordella S.R.L., founded by Giovanni Sordella in 1957, is a mechanical engineering company specialized in hydraulic cylinders for large capacity and lengths for the naval, building and mining sector, vehicles industry and much more. In 1976 the business moved to the new settlement in Marene (CN), where it is now a renowned entity in the hydraulic sector. We also produce lifting platforms, tilters and other special projects. OMS Sordella realizes highly reliable cylinders using only Italian and European steel, custom designed by our internal technical department, following every customer request and in compliance with the current regulations. We tirelessly work to improve the flexibility of the design and the ability to understand the real needs of the customer based on his objectives. OMS Sordella monitors the quality and conformity of its products through a constantly improving ISO 9001 quality system, in order to guarantee a very low number defects.
