> More about AD ASTRA INNOVATION AND DESIGN SRL

The company was founded in 2021 with the clear intent of solving, thanks to the founder's intuition, two of the most serious problems that afflict the healthcare sector today, namely accessibility to diagnosis and sharing of related healthcare data digitally.

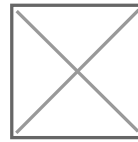

The entrepreneurial ability of the partners and a 4-year research and development path in the Med Tech and AI sector, lead the company to the creation of a highly innovative and unique "solution", the TrAlcorder Medical Device.

The Device, entirely developed "in house", today represents a point of reference for "contactless digital primary diagnosis" and the related data sharing with semantic interoperability, characteristics that meet the needs of the healthcare market in terms of accessibility, inclusion and sharing.

The company has a new operational headquarters and is structured for the distribution of the Device to healthcare facilities in Italy and Europe.

In the period 2025-2028 the company expects to double every year both the turnover generated by the Italian and European markets thanks to a business model based on the simplicity of distribution and the versatility characteristics of the Device.
