> More about LOGIDEX

An all-Italian excellence in the health service.

LOGIDEX provides 100% Italian nutraceutical health supplements to the medical class and to other professionals of the nutrition and health areas. The products are submitted to the most rigorous controls in terms of quality and safety, from the design to the selection of the natural raw materials to the manufacturing phase. Our mission is to commit with passion and constant dedication to technological and scientific innovation. Logidex was born in 2012 from the faith of the three founding members in the preventive and curative power of the ingredients that nature can offer. Over the years, thanks to the continuous investments in clinical research and studies, the company has established itself as an Italian excellence in the production of nutraceutical products, receiving official recognition from Global Health & Pharma.
