Engineering services:

1. Railway:

CAD department is a dynamic team of engineers who deal with the broad issue of designing, including vehicles, assemblies, details, machines, devices, specialized lines, measurement units, as well as upgrading the existing designs.

All our projects are created in 3D environment, allowing for functional analysis, ergonomics analysis, collision analysis and 2D documentation is related to the model and updated automatically.

One of the foundations of our success is our research and development activity related to cutting-edge design methods (3D designs, state-of-the-art materials, lightweight structures, shape optimization, ergonomics of the designed systems).

Our construction and research office deals with complex designs of rail vehicles both for domestic and foreign clients.

Our projects include all types of rail vehicles:

- Trams
- Rail buses
- Electric multiple units
- Underground railway vehicles
- Electric and petrol locomotives
- Passenger cars
- Freight cars, including tank cars

2. Aviation

Department offers engineering support for aviation projects throughout the world. We offer services related to designing and numeric simulations of aircraft structures, installation, as well as assembly and processing equipment for aircraft production.

3. Automotive

Our team prepares the following design projects:

- drive system,
- wheels and steering system,
- chassis,
- interior design,
- installations,
- device integration,

together with simulations and measurement verification.

We create highly structured spatial CAD models of the designed structures, on the basis of which a parametric 2D documentation is prepared. 3D modeling allows for direct transfer of the models to CAE, CAM and CNC systems.

Manufacturing possibilities (unit and series):

1. Pantographs – Rail, Trams,
2. Special equipment, tooling.
